DESCRIPTION: This course explains the role of American national government, its formation and principles of the Constitution; relation of state to the national government; political parties and their relationship to interest groups. This course also explains the structure of the legislative, executive, and judicial branches.

Textbook:

American Government. Book URL: <https://openstax.org/books/american-government/pages/1-introduction>

Class Policies:

- Students are expected to abide by all policies set forth in the student handbook.
- Attendance is defined by submission of course requirements.
- Plagiarism is defined as the use of other people's ideas and words without proper attribution. Plagiarism will not be tolerated. If anyone is found plagiarizing they will receive a zero for that assignment or test and may encounter other disciplinary measures, including failure of the class.
- Turning in late work is possible. Just ask and we can work something out.
- Open discourse is essential for an effective education and the maintenance of a free society. In order to have open discourse we must maintain proper decorum. Therefore, it is essential that we treat everyone with the respect and courtesy that we ourselves would like to receive. Disagreement is a sign of a healthy discourse; but, please remember that it is an idea which we might not like, not the person who espouses it. We can disagree with an idea but remain civil to the people who put forth the idea. We will refrain from ad hominem criticism.

Course Communication:

Important course announcements will be communicated via the Announcements tool on Blackboard Learn. This will forward an email to your campus (registered) email address. Be sure to pay attention to the Announcements because they will contain important information.

Recommended resources for additional exploration:

These are found in the Supplemental Materials folders inside each Lesson folder.

Hardware:

The online course content will work better the more up to date your computer is. Please try to do what you can to make these updates happen. Make sure that your system meets the requirements specified on Blackboard before signing up for an online course. A functional computer with speakers is necessary for success in this course, and you will need to use your computer quite frequently. You will also need frequent internet access. If this is a problem, please consider taking the course in the traditional, campus based manner.

Academic Integrity

Having academic integrity is paramount to your success in any class. Plagiarism or cheating is not tolerated. Any instance of this will result in a grade of zero for that assignment. Here is the link to the UNM Academic Dishonesty Policy:

<https://policy.unm.edu/regents-policies/section-4/4-8.html>. The policy states:

Each student is expected to maintain the highest standards of honesty and integrity in academic and professional matters. The University reserves the right to take disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal, against any student who is found guilty of academic dishonesty or who otherwise fails to meet the expected standards. Any student judged to have engaged in academic dishonesty in course work may receive a reduced or failing grade for the work in question and/or for the course.

Academic Dishonesty is defined as: "Academic dishonesty" includes, but is not limited to, dishonesty in quizzes, tests, or assignments; claiming credit for work not done or done by others; hindering the academic work of other students; misrepresenting academic or professional qualifications within or without the University; and nondisclosure or misrepresentation in filling out applications or other University records.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES: Include a statement such as the following:

If you have a documented disability, the Equal Access Services office will provide me with a letter outlining your accommodations. I will then discuss the accommodations with you to determine the best learning environment. If you feel that you need accommodations, but have not documented your disability, Equal Access Services at 925-8910.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY AND NON-DISCRIMINATION: Optional, but an approved statement from UNM

Main Office of Equal Opportunity is:

In an effort to meet obligations under Title IX, UNM faculty, Teaching Assistants, and Graduate Assistants are considered "responsible employees" by the Department of Education (see page 15 - <http://www2.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ocr/docs/qa-201404-title-ix.pdf>). This designation requires that any report of gender discrimination which includes sexual harassment, sexual misconduct and sexual violence made to a faculty member, TA, or GA must be reported to the Title IX Coordinator at the Office of Equal Opportunity (oeo.unm.edu). For more information on the campus policy regarding sexual misconduct, see: <https://policy.unm.edu/university-policies/2000/2740.html>.

Title IX prohibitions on sex discrimination include various forms of sexual misconduct, such as sexual assault, rape, sexual harassment, domestic and dating violence, and stalking. Current UNM policy designates instructors as required reporters, which means that if I am notified (outside of classroom activities) about any Title IX violations, I must report this information to the Title IX coordinator. If you or someone you know has been harassed or assaulted and would like to receive support and academic advocacy, there are numerous confidential routes available to you. For example, you can contact the Women's Resource Center, the LGBTQ Resource Center, Student Health and Counseling (SHAC), or LoboRESPECT. LoboRESPECT can be contacted on their 24-hour crisis line, (505) 277-2911 and online at loborespect@unm.edu. You can receive non-confidential support and learn more about Title IX through the Title IX Coordinator at (505) 277-5251 and <http://oeo.unm.edu/title-ix/>. Reports to law enforcement can be made to UNM Police Department at (505) 277-2241.
