HCHS 113 Syllabus

Course information: Health Career Health Science 113 Lecture Course

Semester: Fall

Year: 2024

Course #: HCHS 113

Title: Basic Body Structure and Function I

CRN #: 78190, Section 501

Credits: 4 credits

Instructor: Jennifer Escajeda, MPH

Office hours: Due to the online nature of this course I do not have office hours. However, feel free to contact me via Canvas message anytime.

Contact information: All course communication will occur through Blackboard.

Course description: An introduction course in anatomy and physiology for students from diverse backgrounds and varying levels of educational preparation. No prior knowledge of biology or chemistry is assumed.

Textbook/Course Supplies: Essentials of Human Anatomy & Physiology, 12th edition (Pearson), modified MasteringA&P (online access code comes with purchase of new textbook bundle). ISBN-10:9780134395326.

Student learning objectives:

1. Students will define the characteristics of life, hierarchy of organization within the human body, and basic terminology used in anatomy.
2. Students will outline cell structure, function, and diversity as well as the functional characteristics of human tissues.
3. Students will identify and describe the skeletal, muscular, nervous, and respiratory components of the human body.
4. Students will explain the function and anatomy of the integumentary, cardiovascular, urinary, and digestive systems.
5. Students will summarize the physiological roles of the integumentary, skeletal, muscular, nervous, cardiovascular, respiratory, digestive, and urinary systems in maintaining equilibrium (homeostasis, metabolism, and nutrition) within the human body.

Requisites for the course: None

Considerations: This course is taught online. It is the students' responsibility to access course materials either using the college computer facilities or other resources. The online material and activities are critical components of the course. The student is responsible for the material and should ask the instructor via online communication if they need further clarification. Online learning is more student directed, and the role of the instructor is not to impart knowledge, per se, but rather to facilitate learning and effective student interaction. You may have chosen to take an online course because you enjoy the liberty that it provides to explore concepts independently and thoroughly. Or perhaps you like the flexibility in scheduling. Whatever your reasons for choosing to take this course in an online format, it will soon be obvious that it is structured quite differently than traditional face-to-face courses. You must manage your time effectively and meet deadlines in the course modules.

Online does not mean self-paced! There is a schedule and it must be followed – you must complete work throughout the week. Keep in mind that you should be spending approximately 9-12 hours a week on this course. All communication in this class is done via reading and writing. Late work is not accepted!

Through prior or concurrent undergraduate courses, students are expected to be familiar with the composition of basic oral and written communications. Successful students will produce clear, fluent writing demonstrating proper language usage, spelling, sentence structure, punctuation, and the like. In addition, students are expected to have access to and working knowledge of Adobe Acrobat Reader, Microsoft Word, Excel, and PowerPoint, and the ability to create and save files in Microsoft Office file format. All documents must be submitted in .doc, .txt, or .rft formats only. Any other formats will not be accepted and a zero will be awarded for that submission.

Although many smartphones allow internet access, many tools that are incorporated into this course are not functional on the smartphone. To better serve you, it is not recommended that this online course be accessed through the smartphone.

Requirements: Each student is expected to read the weekly chapter in a timely manner. All assigned activities are based on a combination of three things: the companion website, the textbook, and the lecture outlines. A firm understanding of the material is highly suggested before attempting to complete any assigned activity.

In this online course, regular participation in the discussion board is necessary. It allows your instructor and classmates to get to know you. Your responses must be original and thought provoking. The discussion prompts are designed to engage students in a discussion regarding pertinent information from the assigned chapter. They are also designed to help further the understanding of key points from the chapter.

There will be bi-weekly discussions (each worth 30 points), chapter assignments (each worth 10 points), chapter quizzes (each worth 10 points), lecture exams (each worth 100 points), and a cumulative final (worth 200 points).

Course grading policy: Lecture grades will be based on the percentage of points earned (100 or higher = A+, 99-91% = A, 90% = A-, 89% = B+, 88-81% = B, 80% = B-, 79% = C+, 78-71% = C, 70% = C-, 69-60% = D, below 60% = F). Extra credit is NOT given at the individual level – it is only given at the class level. If, at some point during the semester, I decide to offer an extra credit opportunity I will post an announcement discussing the opportunity with the entire class. Please do not ask for an individual extra credit opportunity, as it will not be granted.

10 points – Syllabus quiz

10 points – Introduction discussion (all activities must be completed to open upcoming weeks)

150 points – Bi-weekly discussion boards (5 discussion boards @ 30 points each)

80 points – Chapter assignments (8 assignments @ 10 points each)

100 points – Exam 1 (Organization, Chemistry, Cells, Tissues, and Integumentary System)

100 points – Exam 2 (Skeletal, Muscular, and Nervous Systems, Blood)

100 points – Exam 3 (Cardiovascular, Respiratory, Digestive, and Urinary Systems)

100 points – Cumulative Final Exam

100 points – Chapter quizzes (10 quizzes @ 10 points each)

750 points – TOTAL

Assessments: There will be a total of THREE 100-point lecture exams and a 200 point CUMULATIVE FINAL in this class. Assessments may contain multiple choice, true/false, matching, labeling, and short answer questions regarding information discussed in the textbook, lecture notes, and homework assignments. All assessments will be taken online through Blackboard. You will have one opportunity to complete each lecture exam within the week they are assigned. Every student must take the cumulative final during its scheduled time – no exceptions!

Make sure you understand the concept of availability and duration (discussed on the Start Here page). Assessments will be available for six days (Monday 6:00 am to 11:59pm on Sunday MT). The computer will not allow you to submit your answers if you go beyond the allotted amount of time. And you cannot stop an assessment once you have started it, so please make sure you are ready before you start.

Assignments: There will be a total of EIGHT 10-point chapter assignments in this class. Assignments may contain interactive activities, reading questions, and coaching activities regarding information discussed in the textbook and lecture notes.

Discussion board: The discussion board is the only platform we have to interact and have a ‘conversation’ about the topics we are covering. Every other week we will have a discussion and a detailed prompt will be provided. Discussion participation will be assessed based on the rubric located below. It is imperative that you familiarize yourself with the rubric so that you understand the criteria and can participate in the discussions in a manner that meets the criteria.

The goal is to engage in ongoing and meaningful discussion based on the topics posted in each discussion prompt. It is important to read each prompt carefully, complete assigned readings and post a thoughtful and substantive initial response that makes relevant and meaningful connections with the text and any additional assigned readings. Because these are academic reflections, it is also important to integrate your own perspectives and experiences as you reflect on the content presented in the text and additional readings.

Initial responses are due on Wednesdays before midnight and ongoing discussion will occur between Thursday – Sunday midnight. To receive full points for interaction, your posts should span the above timeframe and at minimum occur on at least three different days during that timeframe.

Do not wait until the last day to engage in the discussion. At that point, it is too late to engage in meaningful dialogue, as we will be transitioning into the next week’s activities. Any student who posts all their student responses on the same day or the last day of the discussion board will not receive credit for any aspect of the responses. Logging in once each day and spending about 10–15 minutes reviewing and responding to posts should meet the requirement for ongoing discussion, if your responses are substantive, thoughtful and you pose questions that illicit further and meaningful discussion. Be sure to respond to your classmates who have responded to your initial post. I will post a synthesis on Thursday of each week. The purpose of the synthesis is to provide closure, expand upon themes that may have emerged and to prompt you to identify your key learning and/or insights gained from the discussion. The synthesis may also prompt you to reflect on the “So what?”.

Recommended Discussion Board Participation Schedule

Day	Activity
Monday	Read the discussion prompt for the week and complete any preparatory activities for the discussion (e.g., readings, videos, web searches, etc.)
Wednesday	Write and post your initial response to the discussion prompt (by 11:59pm).
Thursday	Log in to the discussion board to view your classmates’ posts and reply to those that spark your interest, curiosity or thinking. You do not need to respond to all your classmates’ posts, but you should read them all to get a sense of the spectrum of perspectives on the discussion topic. You should respond to as many of your classmates as possible – the more you engage in dialogue, the more you will learn.  Note that on Thursday I will post a synthesis identifying themes that have emerged from the discussion and will post additional questions to help us to go deeper. Be sure to respond to the synthesis post **
Friday	Log in to the discussion board and read any unread posts. Reply to any responses to your posts. Continue to engage in ongoing dialogue with your classmates.
Saturday and/or Sunday	Log in to the discussion board and read any unread posts and reply to any responses to your posts. Respond to the synthesis post and include a summary of your key learning, any insights gained from the discussion and/or questions that are still left in your mind. The point of this final post is to provide closure to the discussion and to synthesize your learning that has resulted from the discussion.

In the online environment, a culture of collaboration and meaningful interaction are especially important. Your presence and your engagement are essential! For example, in discussions, you play a critical role in not only sharing your own thoughts, ideas and learning, but also in contributing to the learning of your peers in this class through questioning in ways that illicit further discussion and stimulate critical thinking and reflection. A critical aspect of the learning process is identifying our assumptions and misconceptions about the content and understanding how to apply this knowledge to our everyday lives. If you're thinking is not challenged, you are not fully learning.

Discussion Board Rubric

Content	3 points each (6 points total)	1.5 points each (3 points total)	0 point
Initial Post	Initial post fully addresses the required discussion prompt and/or question(s) clearly, concisely and with adequate detail.	Initial post partially addresses the required discussion prompt and/or question(s) somewhat clearly and concisely. More detail is needed to fully address the prompt.	Initial post does not address the required discussion prompt and/or question(s). Post lacks detail and/or may be too wordy and/or lack focus.
Responses	Student responses fully address the questions and/or opinions posed in the initial posts of other students clearly, concisely and with adequate detail. Student responses lead to ongoing and meaningful discussion by asking questions.	Student responses partially address the questions and/or opinions posed in the initial posts of other students somewhat clearly and concisely. More detail is needed to fully address the other students. Only a portion of the student responses lead to ongoing and meaningful discussion by asking questions.	Student responses do not address the questions and/or opinions posed in the initial posts of other students. Responses lack detail and/or may be too wordy and/or lack focus. None of the student responses led to ongoing and meaningful discussion.
Quality	3 points each (6 points total)	1.5 points each (3 points total)	0 point
Initial Post	Initial post is thoughtful (shows serious contemplation of the text and any required readings and resources). Makes clear and substantive connections to required readings. Initial post demonstrates analysis, synthesis and critique.	Initial post makes general references to required readings and resources but does not integrate quotes to support post or demonstrate interaction with key readings and/or resources.	Connections with the required readings and resources are not evident in initial post.
Responses	Student responses are substantive and thoughtful (shows serious contemplation of the questions and/or opinions posed by other students). Makes clear and substantive connections to other students. Student responses encourage others to think critically and have varying points of view.	Student responses are not substantive and/or merely summarize and agree with what the other students have already stated without much thought or critique. Student responses do not encourage others to think critically or have varying points of view.	Student responses lack thought and do not add substance to the discussion or initiate further discussion.

Reflection	3 points each (6 points total)	1.5 points each (3 points total)	0 point
Initial Post	Initial post is personalized (makes clear connections with own experiences) and reflective (shows original thought that goes beyond the obvious and beyond merely summarizing content from required readings and resources to integrate own thoughts, perspectives and insights).	Initial post demonstrates some reflection (makes general connections with own experiences). Initial post does not go beyond summarizing content from required readings and resources (does not integrate own perspective).	Initial post lacks reflection and personalization.
Responses	Student responses are personalized (makes clear connections with own experiences) and reflective (shows original thought that goes beyond the obvious and beyond merely summarizing content from other students to integrate own thoughts, perspectives and insights).	Student responses demonstrate some reflection (makes general connections with own experiences). Student responses do not go beyond summarizing the content from other students (does not integrate own perspective).	Student responses lack reflection and personalization.
Interaction	6 points	3 points	0 point
	Demonstrates a high level of inquiry, engagement and interaction by engaging in ongoing discussion in a timely and consistent manner; responding to classmates' posts in a substantive, thoughtful and reflective manner; initiating dialogue by posting thoughtful and reflective comments and questions; inviting contributions of others; and engaging in dialogue in a respectful and professional manner. Four (or more) responses posted on at least three days that span the timeframe for discussion (Friday-Monday). No more than two posts made on one day.	Engages in dialogue in a respectful and professional manner. Three (or less) substantive and thoughtful responses posted. Responses do not span the timeframe for discussion or demonstrate engagement in ongoing dialogue. At least two posts made on the same day.	Did not interact or minimally interacted in discussion (less than two responses or responses are not substantive). Posted all responses on the same day.
Synthesis	2 points	1 point	0 point
	Responds in a substantive and thoughtful manner to synthesize post and provides closure by summarizing key learning/key insights gained and identifying implications and/or practical applications.	Reads other synthesis posts first and reuses the opinions of other students. Provides a general response to the synthesis post but does not provide closure by summarizing key learning and identifying implications and practical applications.	Did not respond to synthesis post.

Format and Mechanics	2 points each (4 points total)	1 point each (2 points total)	0 point
Initial Post	Initial post is organized and coherent; contains 6 (or more) complete sentences; lacks errors in grammar, punctuation, spelling, and sentence/paragraph structure; references are provided and in text citations properly formatted.	Initial post is somewhat organized and coherent; contains less than 6 complete sentences; has minimal errors in grammar, punctuation, spelling and sentence/paragraph structure; some errors in citations.	Initial post lacks organization, coherency, and is composed of a single paragraph; has significant errors in grammar, punctuation, spelling and sentences/paragraph structure; has significant errors in citations.
Responses	Each student response is organized and coherent; contains 4 (or more) complete sentences; lacks errors in grammar, punctuation, spelling, and sentence/paragraph structure; references are provided and in text citations properly formatted.	Each student response is somewhat organized and coherent; contains less than 4 complete sentences; has minimal errors in grammar, punctuation, spelling and sentence/paragraph structure; some errors in citations.	Each student response lacks organization, coherency, and is composed of a single sentence; has significant errors in grammar, punctuation, spelling and sentences/paragraph structure; has significant errors in citations.

When you are ready to post your initial response, you will create a thread. When you have found a student, you wish to respond to (i.e., further the conversation), you must reply to their post. Your discussion post should enhance and further the discussion. Do not post simplistic responses such as “I agree”, “good point”, or “I don’t know” for this type of response will not earn you credit.

Discussion boards will be active for 6 days (Monday 6:00am to 11:59pm on Sunday MT). After that, the discussion board will be locked, and points assessed. I will read all initial posts and responses, as they will all play a part in the weekly synthesis post.

Attendance: Attendance in an online course should be approached the same as you would a face-to-face course. If this course was offered face-to-face it would meet (at a minimum) twice a week, thus you should log into Blackboard at a minimum of TWO times per week.

Attendance and participation are required to successfully complete this course. It is not the instructor's responsibility to withdraw students. A "W" will not be given as a final grade. It is the student's responsibility to follow UNM Valencia's policy for dropping or withdrawing from a course and to be aware that financial consequences may occur from these actions. A "W" will be given if students drop after February 3rd.

 Students who miss two discussion boards and/or assignments/assessments will be dropped from the course. Students who are registered in the class at the beginning of the semester but fail to submit all the Course Introduction and Week 1 activities by the end of the first week will be dropped from the course ***

Course Behavior: As this is an online class, all classroom communication will be through the written word. Please make sure you remain respectful and tolerant of others' opinions. Tone cannot be deciphered from writing. All opinions are valid in this classroom. Diversity and open-mindedness are valued and expected.

You may become discouraged with taking an online course, especially if this is your first one. I truly hope this does not happen! However, if it does please talk to me immediately.

Response Time: I will do my best to answer emails within 24 hours of receiving them. Once you send me a message regarding an issue and/or question, please give me the allotted 24 hours to respond before you send the same email. My response time slows dramatically when I must read through multiple emails regarding the same issue and/or question. I will not be available to students on the weekends (after 4:00pm on Friday through Sunday).

After an assignment or assessment deadline has passed, I will begin grading. You can expect to have your graded assignments and assessments returned by the following week. Please give me the full week to complete grading before you inquire about your grade. If more than a week has passed, feel free to start asking questions about your grade.

FERPA: As a student, your educational records are considered confidential. Under FERPA (Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act), your records are confidential and protected. Under most circumstances your records will not be released without your written and signed consent. However, some directory information may be released to third parties without your prior consent unless a written request to restrict this is on file. You can read UNM's Privacy Rights to learn more about student rights to privacy.

In this course, we may be working with third party applications online (i.e., wikis, blogs, and other Web 2.0 applications). The different proprietors of these sites may or may not have privacy guarantees and the FERPA policy at UNM does not apply to these sites. It will be your responsibly to read the privacy documentation for each site.

I cannot (by law) discuss any information about a student, their situation, or their progress with anyone except the student themselves. If you are taking this course with a spouse, sibling, or relative I cannot discuss anything with them except issues that pertain to them personally. Please do not ask someone else to contact me in regard to a situation you are experiencing. You must discuss your issues or personal situations with me yourself.

Course Exceptions: Exceptions in this course will only be made in emergency situations. Hopefully no one will experience an emergency this semester. However, sometimes it is out of your control. If you experience an emergency (i.e., a death in the immediate family or a hospitalization) you must inform me of the situation within 48 hours. You must provide written documentation (including dates and times) before arrangements will be made to complete any work missed during the emergency. Once the situation has been taken care of, you will have one week to complete and/or submit any missing assignments or assessments. If you fail to inform me of your situation, you will lose your opportunity to make up those lost points.

Academic Integrity: Having academic integrity is paramount to your success in any class. Plagiarism or cheating is not tolerated. Any instance of this will result in a grade of zero for that assignment. Here is the link to the UNM Academic Dishonesty Policy: <https://policy.unm.edu/regents-policies/section-4/4-8.html>.

The policy states: Each student is expected to maintain the highest standards of honesty and integrity in academic and professional matters. The University reserves the right to take disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal, against any student who is found guilty of academic dishonesty or who otherwise fails to meet the expected standards. Any student judged to have engaged in academic dishonesty in course work may receive a reduced or failing grade for the work in question and/or for the course.

Academic Dishonesty is defined as: "Academic dishonesty" includes, but is not limited to, dishonesty in quizzes, tests, or assignments; claiming credit for work not done or done by others; hindering the academic work of other students; misrepresenting academic or professional qualifications within or without the University; and nondisclosure or misrepresentation in filling out applications or other University records.

Accommodations: UNM is committed to providing equitable access to learning opportunities for students with documented disabilities. As your instructor, it is my objective to facilitate an inclusive classroom setting, in which students have full access and opportunity to participate. To engage in a confidential conversation about the process for requesting reasonable accommodations for this class and/or program, please contact Accessibility Resource Center at arcsrvs@unm.edu or by phone at 505-277-3506. The UNMValencia Equal Access Services (Sarah Clawson, Coordinator), at (505) 925-8840 or by email at sjclawson@unm.edu.

Course Completion: Textbooks, supplies and/or equipment in good working order may be required to assist in successfully completing this course. Successful completion means that the final grade will satisfy the course requirements on the UNM Degree Plan. Grades of “F”, “I”, “U”, and “W” are not considered successful completion.

Copyright: This course may contain copyright protected materials such as audio or video clips, images, text materials, etc. These items are either linked to or are being used regarding the Fair Use doctrine in order to enhance the learning environment. Please do not copy, duplicate, download, or distribute these items. The use of these materials is strictly reserved for this online classroom environment and your use only. All copyright materials are credited to the copyright holder.

Non-Confidentiality: The UNM network and computer systems are the property of University of New Mexico and may be accessed only by authorized users. Unauthorized use of the network or computer systems is strictly prohibited and may be subject to criminal prosecution. The University may monitor any activity or communication on the system and retrieve any information stored within the system. By accessing and using the network and University owned computer systems, you are consenting to such monitoring and information retrieval for law enforcement and other purposes. Users should have no expectation of privacy as to any communication on the network or any information stored within the systems, including information stored locally on the hard drive or other media (e.g., floppy disks, PDAs and other hand-held peripherals, CD-ROMs, etc.). Use of the UNM network or computer systems by any user, authorized or unauthorized, constitutes consent to this monitoring, interception, recording, reading, copying, or capturing and disclosure.

Title IX: To meet obligations under Title IX, UNM faculty, Teaching Assistants, and Graduate Assistants are considered “responsible employees.” This designation requires that any report of gender discrimination, which includes sexual harassment, sexual misconduct and sexual violence, made to a faculty member, TA, or GA must be reported to the Title IX Coordinator at the Office Compliance, Ethics and Equal Opportunity (ceeo.unm.edu). For more information on the campus policy regarding sexual misconduct and reporting, see: <https://policy.unm.edu/university-policies/2000/2740.html>.

Confidentiality and Mandatory Reporting: As an instructor, one of my responsibilities is to help create a safe learning environment on our campus. I also have a mandatory reporting responsibility. I am required to share information regarding sexual misconduct or information about a crime that may have occurred on UNM’s campus with the Title IX Coordinator and/or the UNM Police. Students may speak to someone confidentially by contacting UNM-Valencia Campus Police Department at 505-925-857

 The instructor reserves the right to make additions, deletions, corrections, or other modifications to the lecture syllabus and schedule as deemed necessary. If changes are necessitated during the term of the course, the instructor will immediately notify students of such changes the course announcement and/or course mail. ***
