Dr. Ken Carpenter, Academic Coordinator and Adjunct Instructor
Critical Technology Studies and National Security Studies
The University of New Mexico

Ken Carpenter is the Academic Coordinator and an Adjunct Instructor for the Critical Technology Studies and National Security Studies programs at The University of New Mexico. He is retired from the UNM Global Education Office where he served as Director and Associate Director for Education Abroad Programs. He is also the Founding Director of Casa Xalteva, an educational and charitable foundation in Granada, Nicaragua, that manages international educational and cultural exchange programs.

He has a BA degree in history from Colorado State University, an MA in history from the University of Texas, Austin, and a Ph.D. from the University of Oregon in International Education. His areas of interest are global education, human rights, international studies and Latin American and U.S. Mexico borderlands history. He is the author of Borderlands Boy: Love, War and Peace in the Atomic Age.

---

Virtual STEM-H Speaker Series
Wednesday, March 3
3 to 4 pm

Zoom Link
https://unm.zoom.us/j/98740376506 or if you have a Zoom account, you can log in to your account and click on Join A Meeting with this Meeting ID: 98740376506

Learn About the Intelligence Community and National Security Careers

Reaching Rural STEM Students (R²S²) is funded by the U.S. Department of Education.